REVISION: JUST MAKE A START

REVISION, IN A MINUTE.

- The most useful thing you can do after watching is stop, pick up your books, open your notebook and get on with something.
- Need motivation? Make a start. If all you can manage tomorrow is 10 or 15 minutes, that's better than nothing.
- Find techniques that work for you. What's covered here is proven to work.
- These page layouts come from study accounts on social media. Search for "academic study notes" layouts if you want more ideas.
- Try to answer your own queries first. You remember far more when you work the answer out than when you are handed it.

> Sparky's revision routine in one lineRewatch the lesson with your book open → split your page → pause and bullet point → summarise in your own words → log and chase your questions → five-minute breaks → talk it through → mocks only to test yourself.

Free section from Sparky Study Notes. The full Level 3 notes, 1,463 practice questions and the video lessons: sparkystudynotes.co.uk